

Morning at the Museum is a FREE sensory-friendly program for families of children with disabilities. We aim to provide a meaningful and comfortable experience for individuals and their families. Programs rotate throughout the 19 Smithsonian museums and take place on Saturday or Sunday morning. Each program consists of providing pre-registered families early entrance, facilitated activities, pre-visit materials, and a take a break space. All activities are designed to create a connection between the individual and the content of the museum.

Registration required.

Eventbrite registration links are distributed via email.

For more information about the program or how to register, please contact Ashley Grady at access@si.edu or 202-633-2921.
